Exhibition | Women's Rights Are Human Rights

11 a.m.-8 p.m., Center for the Arts Gallery, Center for the Arts Room 3040

Women's Rights Are Humans Rights: International Posters on Gender-based Inequality, Violence, and Discrimination is an exhibition that features posters created by both men and women to celebrate and acknowledge the vital role that all citizens play in protecting and promoting human rights while challenging gender inequality and stereotypes, advancing reproductive and sexual rights, protecting women and girls against brutality, and promoting women's empowerment, education, and participation in society. The posters argue for the empowerment of women, achievement of equality between women and men, and the elimination of discrimination against women and girls.

Organized and curated by Elizabeth Resnick, Professor Emerita, Graphic Design, Massachusetts College of Art and Design, Boston

Exhibition | Linda Brenner: Understory

11 a.m.-8 p.m., Holtzman MFA Gallery, Center for the Arts Room 2040

Brenner's sculptures express the inherent structure and order found in nature. The proportions and compositions are organized using geometry derived from mathematical formulae. Concern for craftsmanship and its relationship to process is evident in her figures, many of which are repurposed city trees that now take on a new life as artworks and remembrances of the places from which they fell. The sculptures remain, like a garden, works in progress—cumulative, rearrangeable and reworkable.

Wave 11222

7:00 p.m., Dryer MFA Lab, Center for the Arts

Wave 11222 utilizes narrative storytelling through solo performance as a method to highlight individual stories within the larger cultural context of the COVID-19 pandemic. Drawing from long-form interview data collected in Spring 2024, Wave 11222 blends the narratives of grief activists who have lost loved ones to COVID-19, autoethnography, and theoretically informed cultural critique to respond to the question: How does activism and coalitionality emerge from death and mourning? As a solo performance project, Wave 11222 is an accessible entry point for an audience to openly engage conversations about death, dying, and the lasting impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic especially within poor, working-class, and other marginalized communities. Engaging cultural memory and public accountability through the stories of the participants and the performer, Wave 11222 makes it clear that not only is the pandemic not over, but we must be accountable for the rippling repercussions of the damage done. Through these stories we not only keep their memories alive but begin to develop a deeper understanding of the depth of grief from COVID-19.
